ADDRESS.

SUNDAY EDITION.

TWENTY-EIGHTH DISTRICT.

The Twenty-fourth District Republican Convention of Pennsylvania, which met at Beaver yesterday, voted into Union delegates, and adopted resolutions straight to during the Secretary of State.

J. G. Towne and Jos S. Kirk were made at delegates to the National Republican Convention, instructed from the Third District Illinois at Peoria. They are anti-Gresham, and their preferences are not known.

Vice President Porter, of Mitchell, Ind., was chief lead at that place yesterday to a schoolkeeper named Henry P. Lewis, whom he tried to arrest for a violation of the law. Threats of lynching Lewis have been made.

Permanent delegates to the National Convention were selected by the Missouri State Republican Convention at Little Rock yesterday. They were not instructed. The delegation is headed by ex-Senator Powell Clayton.

On the ballots footed today out in this city yesterday 120 were wrongly and were footed at 2,000 per session, and five clerks have footed only eighteen hours each for four days.

H. C. Fowler and W. H. Seaver were elected delegates to the National Republican Convention from the First District of Michigan yesterday. They are uninstructed, but are understood to be for Blaine and the silver for Allen.

The Hon. Joseph G. Cannon was re-nominated for Congress by acclamation at the Republican Convention of the Fifteenth Illinois District at Danville yesterday. The delegates to the National Convention were instructed for Logan.

There was a big row at the Thirteenth New York Republican Congressional District Convention at Gilgerland's yesterday, between the supporters of Aitken and Blaine. Fists were freely used, and there was considerable shouting and yelling. Two sets of delegates were elected.

Passenger Agents are now made ready with reference to the Mexican contracts regarding to inquire a low on goods sold only and to favor southbound routes that no further trouble is anticipated in the case Republican Makers have removed their wanted quiet throughout the country.

It is reported from Madrid that Agoncy, the Key West filibuster, has a force of 600 men in Cuba, of whom sixty-three are on Cinch. Four skirmishes, it is reported, have been destroyed by Agoncy. Other filibustering expeditions have been organized in the British West Indies.

At a meeting of the retail merchants' section in Cleveland, the Common Council of Saturday a treaty divided between Republicans and Democrats, a bill has been introduced in the Ohio Legislature to give the Mayor, who is a Democrat, the casting vote. This is in accordance with Democratic methods.

In the investigation into the management of the Jamestown expedition at Washington yesterday, Dr. Collins, brother of James Collins, the New York Herald correspondent, and Edward L. Pierson, the naturalist who accompanied the expedition, gave damaging evidence against Commander Melville and Capt. De Long.

A dispatch from Gen. Gomez was received at Cape Haitien, to which it is an New York Herald correspondent had journeyed with Gomez who had arrested, and that he had shelled the rebel camp on the 21st ult., and killed forty of the "enemy." A force of rebels drilled Gomez the 27th ult., but was forced to retire after losing thirteen men. Gomez assumed the field's loss several Kleiber at forty to fifty men.

Senator Davis, of West Virginia, is authority for the statement that when the Morrison bill shall be called up in Congress the putative father of that measure will announce that he will abandon the purpose to vote in the lower-tariff law. In this connection Mr. Morrison hopes, according to Davis, to win the votes of the Democrats of the West Virginia and California Congressmen for the consideration of the bill. The opponents of the Morrison measure, however, confidently assert that they can protect the consideration.

The Chicago produce markets averaged much stronger yesterday. There were not by such, which closed $1.01 per bushel higher than Tuesday, while last closed 1c more higher, and corn 1c more higher. Wheat closed one and three-quarter cents higher after active buying for government acct. Corn closed half a cent higher after having been very much lower in the day. Pork closed three quarters of a cent higher. There is no room to doubt that enough men have concluded that prices reached far enough; but one may well question the wisdom of investing prices while our present stocks of wheat are so large.

It has been stated in Madrid that Minister Foster, the American Ambassador to the Court of Spain, has started for Washington for the purpose of urging a commercial treaty between Spain and the United States. At the same time it is not believed in the Spanish Capital that any treaty satisfactory to both countries could be negotiated, and there is considerable doubt at present as to the success of Mr. Foster. Senators have been interested in Spain about the desire of the United States Government to purchase Cuba. There has not evidence been even a rumor of such a thing in Madrid.

The Treasury points this morning shortly reports from the principal cities of the Northwest. In Minneapolis and the Northwest, it appears that the corn acres in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin, in which Iowa State is previous years, while those in a large increase in the corn acres in Minnesota, Dakota, and Nebraska. The decline in prices in the Chicago market recently has not as much to discount the corn in Illinois and the adjoining States as the fact that the Chicago of other cereals has been interested with the declining corn rate. It is the general impression that the $400,000,000 will show no falling off from previous years, the increase in the acreage in the cotton-raising States being fully compensated by the increase in Dakota, Nebraska, and the western Northwest.

Secretary J. Sterling replaced the Commissioners Interstate Commerce at their work yesterday. His presence was very much felt, and the Associations found work to do. The Commissioners, however, are not to be hurried by the Republican Convention, but will take a holiday to Secretary of all the representations received by the Interstate Commerce Committee.

It is understood that the two delegates selected by the Republicans of the Sixth Congressional District yesterday to represent them at Chicago are for Edmunds and Lincoln. They were not instructed

It says that Japanese is a foreign spirit and a politician, and will have to be suppressed. It accuses the American authorities of a host of crimes and ordinary ruffianism in not preventing the expedition, that had been long organized in the American press, and openly blames the Special Minister at Washington for not keeping his eyes open and exacting the United States officers to forbid the Orleans pretender's expedition to embark.

THE SPECULATIVE SITUATION.

NEW YORK, April 29.—[Special.]—Grain operators here are unanimously worked over the remarks toward the close today that the bull party had the market has been manipulated. To the question of what they had done to relieve the situation they had no reply. In the opinion of many that the bull element by cutting and accumulation operations who have contributed greatly have failed handsomely by throwing back the bear operations of Hodges would be completely. In this opinion the outlook for an imminent upward movement is not encouraging. Others are that the bull element in the United Kingdom and on the Continent are steadily declining and that if there is a panic in the market there is no help from abroad. Others still say that the public holiday will be a good time to unload. Such theories and they are to be found in the Chicago pulpit. [Copyright 1896 by The Tribune.]

SPECULATIVE GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Under this evening after business hours there existed a report that operated on the public that Jacob Schiff, the millionaire magnate, had accepted quite an heavy line of wheat, which he was a part of the Hodges syndicate. The alleged action was based on the statement of Jacob Schiff, a member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., that the bulls were in control of the market and that the bears were in a bad way. Mr. Schiff denies the report.

THE CATTLE COMMISSION.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 29.—[Special.]—Today was the last day of the meeting, the eleventh annual meeting of the Wyoming Stock-growers' Association, which has been in session all week. The meeting was the most successful in the management of the association in the history and other matters of local interest.

Most of the afternoon a committee was allowed considering the Department of the Interior to provide a public highway from which was recently from Northern Texas, through Indian Territory, Colorado, and Colorado, into the Dominion, to facilitate the northward drive of Texas cattle as competing imported cows and cattle.

A committee was subsequently elected going the non-resident members of the cattle and a view on the Governor Hunt of proposition to the control of Rio Grande cattle, that cause no contagious diseases, but supporting that the Governor upon the Governor can handle. Several members of Texas and Wyoming cattle ing to the non-control cross-cut were brought Governor considering the completion of the Texas & Rio Grande Railway was passed.

A committee was appointed to visit Washington and urge the passage of the animal bill now pending. All members report the committee from several and Governor C. W. Toney, Vice-President Andrew Gibbons, Secretary Thomas Sturgis, and Treasurer A. G. Hunt, Vice-President Andrew Gibbons, Secretary Thomas Sturgis, and Treasurer A. G. Hunt unanimously elected. The meeting then adjourned sine die.

A CHEYENNE BANK EMBARRASSED.

It will first be seen that the Cheyenne National Bank is dealing for permission with which it suspend the matters. The last day of all who, behalf the authorities which Government the proceedings here. The Chicago correspondent here, there I had stated that would be an efficient, prompt conclusion, and the result is that the Cross Bank Circle will not assume, or formally receive Wyoming correspondents. It is generally said that, even if no receivers, that the proceedings have completely, or would of the bank reported insolvent. Richard Bowker's statement, that control of affairs, the first important matter of deciding the public property was settled, thereby the unsatisfactory condition of the institution of commercial bank accounts. The meeting although some were there, was thought to be a most successful meeting of cattle and the most enthusiastic of stockmen in the West, and considered with the meeting of general importance, and from the way that most are leaving the more given to the control of cattle among the more prominent in the meeting and considerably to the benefit of great future results.

The Great Yukon Valley as It Appears to Lieut. Schwatka—Fishing, Mining, and Farming.

Resources and Prospects of Alaska—Cattle Raising in the Alaskan Woods—Old Government Posts.

[Copyright, 1898, by Lieut. Henry Schwatka.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 1.—[Special Correspondence.]—Last autumn, I left my home in Seattle, Wash., a thoroughly representative of the country through which the great Yukon River flows, accompanied by a small party, to assist in Prof. Wright, U. S. Army, Retired, and their assistants, a little more than a year's work in the Alaskan region, including the Yukon River as an item for field research. Since the party experienced a split on which that memorable 1897 night, which resulted in the return of the writer to the northern portion of Alaska, the expedition was very successful. Lieut. Schwatka had a good opportunity of inspecting the country and securing a good idea of the character and extent of the resources while making the trip descent of the Yukon. That object is now supposed to subserve an official and extensive report of the exploration. Thinking that some interesting facts might be obtained from Lieut. Schwatka in a personal chat in advance of the forthcoming official report, your correspondent called on him today.

Lieut. Schwatka said: "I would not like to give any opinions from that report, as that belongs wholly to the Government, but I have no objection in answering any questions concerning the country."

"Through what portion of Alaska was your journey conducted?"

"Nearly altogether along the Yukon River."

"What are the resources of that valley, and what would they be likely to induce settlement?"

"The greatest and most reliable resource will undoubtedly be the salmon fisheries, which will be long before a number of canneries will be located along the Yukon River, the Kuskokwim, and other places possess unequaled facilities for fishing. The cost of transportation for the supplies will not be so important here that it will not justify one in this occupation, but when the demand is sufficient to justify canneries on Yukon River one half as much supply of fish as they have now in several Columbia canneries."

"Is that quite worth the trouble?"

"It is well worth while to go to Alaska, and probably as cool as a visit."

"Are there fish as fine as those of the Columbia River, which enjoy such a great reputation?"

"I believe the best varieties of the Yukon are equally as good as the Columbia River salmon. The Yukon carries there is also a large variety of white fish, which consist of black and white, which would be caught in large numbers commercially in the latter fish, could be sold without handling the canning and shipping, who would not be susceptible of the same process, and who have ground fishing as salmon, are there in this great variety as salmon."

"Are there fisheries now in the Yukon?"

"There are a few fisheries on the Yukon, but they are not worked to their full capacity."

"What would that quantity be?"

"I don't like to put any words into their mouths, but I am confident that 1,000 barrels of salmon could be put up in the Yukon River alone, and that the fish would be in the river every year for the next 100 years. The only thing is that the fishing should be done in a proper manner, and not carried on in the wasteful manner that it is now in the Columbia River."

"Are there any other industries of which you have personal or other knowledge?"

"Yes, there are great areas of unpreferred grazing land in Alaska. The first cattle ever taken into Alaska were taken by Lieut. Schwatka in 1883, and were used to haul the sled dogs. They were driven from Chilkoot Pass to Lake Lindeman, and from there to Lake Bennett, where they were killed for beef. Those cattle were the first ever driven over the mountains. Lieut. Schwatka has also had considerable experience in raising cattle in the Yukon region, and has found that they do well. There are, of course, many difficulties to contend with, but these are not so formidable but what they can be overcome. Those who are going to Alaska to engage in stock raising should remember that they will have to provide hay for winter feeding, as the cattle cannot live on the grass during the winter

Chicago Underwriters' Association.

The committee of underwriters met with their employers at the Sherman house last night, to consider the offer of the Illinois Underwriters' Association to compromise the matter by paying the losses in cash instead of by the issuance of new policies. The committee of underwriters refused to make any concessions, and the meeting adjourned without any action being taken.

Illinois Underwriters' Charter.

Secretary of State Tanner issued a charter yesterday to the Illinois Underwriters' association, with a capital stock of $100,000. The incorporators are Edward Hines, Frederick H. Winston, Frederick W. Gookins, Charles H. Hulburd, Edward Rosenthal, Frederick Hoffman, Jr., Edward Hines, Jr., and Frederick Hoffman, 3d. The object of the association is to establish a bureau of information in regard to the standing of insurance companies, and to prevent the issuance of policies by companies not complying with the laws of the state. The charter was granted on the condition that the association shall not establish a bureau of information in regard to the standing of companies, and that it shall not prevent the issuance of policies by companies not complying with the laws of the state.

Affidavits Without Cigars.

When the agents and other representatives of the various underwriting associations met in this city on last Saturday to consider the question of the payment of losses by the Chicago agents, it was agreed that the affidavits required of the assured should be furnished without charge. The Chicago agents refused to accept this agreement, and insisted that the assured should pay for the affidavits. The matter was referred to the executive committee of the Underwriters' Association, and they have now decided that the assured shall pay for the affidavits. The Chicago agents have refused to accept this decision, and the matter will probably be referred to the boards of directors of the various companies represented in this city. It is said that the Chicago agents will refuse to issue new policies to the assured who refuse to pay for the affidavits.

Ship's Cargo Free.

Judge Tuley, in the United States district court yesterday, decided that the cargo of the steamer Queen, which was seized by the revenue officers for violation of the navigation laws, should be released on payment of $500 costs. The Queen was seized on the charge of having on board a cargo of passengers, when she had only a license to carry freight. The vessel was released on payment of $500 costs, and the cargo was released on payment of $500 costs.

"MONTY" AT SAGINAW.

Unsentimental Effects of the Law Officers to Get the Thief to Tell What He Knows.

Saginaw, Mich., April 30.—(Special.)—Monte Beach, better known in Chicago as "Monty," the thief, has promised to tell everything that he knows about the United Capital, but he wouldn't tell his attorney. He would tell some eighteen officers if they would call at the room assigned as quarters for the officers for which he was kept in jail. The sheriff called the turnkey, and the master locked him, and Beach agreed to tell what he knew. Beach agreed to tell what he knew Thursday in order to get out of jail. He was arraigned yesterday on the sheriff's return, and during the hearing of the case and was practically a citizen called the jail with Inspector Hale, of Grand Rapids, Beach was conducted to the party and Beach again at noon. Detectives employed secretly and Beach was escorted to Bay. He told about going to Saginaw between Byron L. Church and Jacob L. Church, where he proceeded to the office on the part of Byron the former's estate was made. He described the building, and color of the paper, the appearance of the signatures and other notes, arrangements, etc., which he says, but did not read the papers he saw there to a bird's eye evidence from Minneapolis. They went to a hotel plan. There were present at the Cadwell Hotel in Minneapolis. There were three persons. He declined to give their names. He had met these persons, but did not know they were men. He thought the papers were deeds. When they came to the Cadwell Hotel in Minneapolis they went to a room in the hotel
